

Ryan Brothers, Trinity fonds. - 1892 - 1947. – 6.19 m textual records

Administrative history

The Ryan's of Bonavista created a mercantile empire on the northeast coast of Newfoundland in the second half of the nineteenth century which was comparable in scale with many of the Water Street merchant houses of St. John's.

Michael Ryan came to Bonavista from Ireland about 1830. He married Mary Ellen Fleming and had nine children, including James (b.1842), Daniel (b.1851) and Edmund (b.1863). James Ryan founded the fishery supply and general trade business at Bonavista in 1857. During the next three decades James, along with brothers Daniel, Edmund, Nicholas, and to lesser degrees Patrick, Michael J. and John, expanded the business into three separate firms with branch operations and barter shops in many communities throughout Bonavista and Trinity Bay's and along the coast of Labrador.

James, Daniel and Edmund Ryan started a firm, known as Ryan Brothers, at Trinity in 1906, taking over the old Garland premises formerly occupied by Grieve and Bremner and Robert S. Bremner. The firm was managed by Edmund Ryan. The firm supplied Trinity Bay and Conception Bay schooners involved in the Labrador trade. The firm also operated its own Labrador schooners out of Trinity and supplied fishermen engaged in the local shore fishery. James was the owner of Ryan Brothers, though public perception was that Edmund was the proprietor. When the firm was incorporated in 1936, Mrs. Katherine Ryan (James's widow) held fifty percent of the shares, compared to roughly 16 percent each for Edmund, Walter N. White and Fred Ottenheimer (Daniel's son-in-law). James's sons, Herbert and James, acquired their mother's fifty percent share of the business after she died in 1945. By the time of Edmund's death in 1949, the firm had all but exited the salt fish trade. Ryan Brother's at Trinity continued primarily as a retail business under the management of Walter N. White, a long time employee and nephew of the Ryan Brother's until its closure in 1952.

Custodial history

The majority of the records were salvaged from the Ryan premises by Walter G. C. White in the 1960s and held at the Trinity Museum and at the house of S. Rupert Morris.

Some diaries came from the McGrath family home in August 2018 donated by Anne Dwyer (grand daughter to Bill McGrath) who was working for the Ryan's in Trinity. The diaries are written by E.J. Ryan. Diaries were held in the McGrath family home from the closure of the business in 1952 until they were donated in 2018.

Scope and content

The fonds consists mainly of the financial records for the firm of Ryan Brother's of Trinity from the time the firm was established in 1906 to the end of the 1940s. Records include ledgers, which give individual accounts; day books, which record daily purchases and prices; store books, which provide details of the Ryan wholesale trade; inventory books; fish collections relating to the Labrador trade at Hawke Harbour; a statement of the firm's liabilities and assets, 1948; code book, and logbooks of schooners. For much of the period of the firm's operation at Trinity, business was carried out through the barter or truck system. The exchange of goods for services, fish or produce is recorded in the ledgers. Also included are three volumes from an earlier period: debt ledger for 1892 - 1893, share man's wages, 1904 - 1905, diary 1905. It is possible that these volumes originated with James Ryan & Company, King's Cove or Bonavista.

The fonds are arranged in seven series: Series 1: Financial records, 1906 - 1947; Series 2: Correspondence, 1921 - 1948; Series 3: Labrador trade, 1908 - 1909; Series 4: Predecessor records, 1892 - 1905; Series 5: Logbooks of Schooners 1906 - 1922, Series 6: Miscellaneous 1922 - 1952; Series 7: Diaries 1906 - 1944
